Why choose this program?

This program is designed to give teachers a competitive edge when seeking or fulfilling leadership roles within special needs education. Graduates will develop advanced understandings of current educational issues together with a high level of practical competence in systematically applying school data and evidence based practices to coordinate targeted supports and interventions with staff and parents across school, home, and community settings.

An action research project enables graduates to be successful change agents and leaders in research-based innovation, intervention, and educational change that today's schools value.

My career opportunities

You will find employment opportunities as an inclusion teacher, support teacher or special education teacher working in a range of educational settings. You will be able to advance your professional career to senior leadership positions in special and inclusive education.

Please note that this degree does not lead to teacher registration.

What are the fees?

Fee-paying postgraduate (domestic) students

Indicative annual tuition fee

The indicative annual tuition fee is calculated based on a standard full-time study load which is usually 80 credit points.

The indicative annual tuition fee is based on current conditions and available data and should only be used as a guide. These fees are reviewed annually and are subject to change.

Tuition fees

- A fee-paying postgraduate student pays tuition fees.
- Students are liable for tuition fees for the courses they are enrolled in as at the census date.
- The tuition fee for students who commence their program prior to 2014 is charged according to the approved program fee for the trimester in which the student commenced the program.
- The tuition fee for students who commence their program from 2014 onwards is charged according to the approved program fee for the trimester in which the student is enrolled.
